

DYNASTY® Pride

Product Description

DYNASTY Pride is a complete-with-roughage feed in a large, cubed form. It has all the nutrition required including the fiber and other nutrients found in pasture or hay. This product may represent the entire diet (if feedings are at least three times/day) or simply the roughage portion of the diet. It contains approximately 1225 DE calories per pound. This is more than 20% higher than alfalfa hay and 50% higher than most grass hays. However, DYNASTY Pride contains a correct calcium to phosphorus ratio when compared to the imbalance of alfalfa. Imbalances of minerals may negatively impact absorption of many nutrients. It may also be fed as a treat to reinforce positive behavior by your horse.

Features and Benefits

DYNASTY Pride is "cubed" - The cube is a large pellet that is generally eaten individually.

This slows consumption and approximates the horse's more natural style of eating. It may be fed as the roughage source only or it may represent the total diet.

For those people who wish to feed DYNASTY Pride as the roughage source only, it must be fed in conjunction with an approved Kent complete feed such as other DYNASTY® horse products or Success®. Feed at a minimum of one percent of the body weight; one and one-half percent of the body weight is better and a minimum of three feedings per day is strongly recommended.

DYNASTY Pride is superb for those situations where pasture or good-quality hay is limited or non-existent. It is great for trail-riders, and for horses with respiratory problems such as "heaves".

DYNASTY Pride uses beet pulp, an excellent source of highly digestive fiber, to encourage proper flow through the intestinal tract. Yeast is incorporated into the formula to improve fiber digestion and nutrient availability.

DYNASTY Pride supplies all of the nutrients and roughage a horse requires, a small amount of hay or pasture is recommended for maximum digestive function and to aid in the prevention of boredom.

Contains selenium yeast which has been shown to have higher retention and digestibility than sodium selenite.

DYNASTY® Pride
